RICHARD WHEELER

MUCH TRAVELED SERVICE MAN RETURNS TO HOME OF PARENTS ON PATTERSON AVE.

After two and a half years' service in the navy, Richard Wheeler, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Wheeler, of Patterson avenue, is again at the family home, having received honorable discharge, and just arrived via Panama Canal from New York. Richard was only seventeen at the time of his enlistment, and being then under age it was necessary to obtain the consent of his parents before he could be received as a volunteer. Still under twenty, he has enjoyed wonderful opportunities of sight-seeing for one so young. He has visited London, Paris, the Azores, West Indies, Guatemala, Mexico; passed twice through the Panama Canal, and has made numerous trips to New York, Boston and other principal seaboard cities.

He left California on the U. S. S. Yale, sister ship of the Harvard, both formerly in the passenger service between Los Angeles and San Francisco. She was taken around to Newport News and there fitted for service across the English Channel as a ferry in handling allied troops between Southampton and Brest, Le Havre, etc. He remained with the Yale during her entire war career, making no less than eighty-five trips across the Channel with her. He was then transferred to the Pretoria,

TWIN PARTIES

YOUNG PEOPLE OF WEST GLENDALE M. E. CHURCH ENJOY HALLOWE'EN FESTIVITIES

Two very delightful Hallowe'en parties were given in the social hall of the West Glendale M. E. Church on last Thursday and Saturday evenings. The church was artistically decorated in a very weird and fantastic manner with cornstalks, pumpkins and dim sepulchral lights, black cats, witches and ghosts, and there was a witch's hut where one after another had their fortunes told during the progress of the evening. The party on Thursday evening was given under the auspices of Miss Anne Cook's Sunday School class of twelve young ladies who, with their several gentlemen friends, enjoyed an evening together in the playing of games, music and singing followed by a sumptuous banquet.

The party Saturday evening was given by the young ladies in Mrs. Pixley's class who also invited their gentlemen friends to join them in the wit and humor of the varied amusements appropriate to the occasion and the splendid repast served by the teacher and her assistants. Altogether it was an evening long to be remembered. Among those present were: Misses Margaret Singleton, Anne Cookman, Eva and Helen Gould, Irene Jones, Alda and Irene Jarvis, Ruth Spafford, Olive Pixley, Alfred Cookman, Sergt. William Cookman from Camp Kearny, Guy Pixley, James Reed, Merle Davis, Irving Thomas, Cecil Latham, Mesdames Pixley, Hanning, Davis and Hoopes.

TIMES HAVE CHANGED

R. W. Thompson and sister, Mrs. Mary E. Graham, who went on the G. A. R. excursion to Columbus, Ohio, returned last Thursday bringing with them Miss Margaret Martin, their friend and schoolmate. They visited relatives and friends in Coshocton county and had one rather unique experience. With a party of four other old friends they visited the district school which all of them had attended fifty years ago. The old frame building into which an average of forty pupils used to be crowded and in which every seat was always taken, has gone, and in its place is a beautiful new schoolhouse, but there were only ten pupils in attendance, the entire enrollment being but twelve. Roundabout is a prosperous agricultural district, the farms having been bought up and concentrated in a few hands, but the old days when there were eight or ten children of school age in each home seem to have departed.

BOLD THIEVES

On returning from Los Angeles Friday evening about 7:30 o'clock, Mr. and Mrs. Alan Dunlop, of 906 East Harvard street, found their house had been entered by thieves. Entrance had been gained by breaking the glass in a window on the front porch. Two living room chairs, silverware, embroidered table and bed linen were taken.

DEATH OF CLARENCE B. MORGAN

Clarence B. Morgan, who has been a resident of Glendale for ten years, died November 2d, at the home of a friend in Sunland. He was born January 12, 1883, in Mississippi, and was a shoe salesman by occupation. For some time he was in the employ of David G. Crofton, of this city, and he was a great friend of A. H. Trueblood. Funeral services will be held at the Little Church of the Flowers Tuesday, November 4th, at 3 p. m., at Forest Lawn Memorial Park, with L. G. Scovern in charge.

MUNICIPAL CAMPAIGN IN FRISCO

RE-ELECTION OF MAYOR ROTH AND DISTRICT ATTORNEY FICKERT PREDICTED

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov.3.—A spirited municipal campaign is being closed here today with parades, many street meetings and other gatherings. Mayor Rolph is a five-to-one favorite in the betting over former mayor Schmidt for the mayorality. The closest fight is between District Attorney Fickert, who prosecuted Thomas Mooney and Matthew Brady for the district attorneyship. Politicians are betting even money that Fickert will beat Brady by 4000 votes.

EFFECTIVENESS OF COAL STRIKE

STRIKERS DECLARE PRODUCTION IS NINETY PER CENT STOPPED—OWNERS DISCOUNT ESTIMATE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—Union officials today claimed that the coal strike is one hundred per cent effective. The reports indicated little change in the situation from that of Saturday. The operators refused to estimate the number of men out. Apparently a sharp alignment has been drawn between the union and non-union miners. Reports indicate that practically all non-union men have remained at work.

The strikers believe that coal production has been ninety per cent stopped but the owners said this was excessive. Government agents watched the situation closely for radicalism. No violence has been reported.

ELECTIONS IN ENGLAND

THE FIRST TIME LABOR PARTY FIGURES IN MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS WITH UNIVERSAL SUCCESS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

LONDON, Nov. 3.—Late returns from Saturday's municipal elections in many important cities of England indicate a virtually universal labor victory. This is the first time that labor has figured in municipal elections.

EIGHTH CAVALRY SENT TO GALLUP

GOVERNOR HAD ASKED FOR TROOPS TO AID IN PRESERVING ORDER IN THE COAL FIELDS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

GALLUP, New Mex., Nov. 3.—A squadron of the Eighth Cavalry has arrived here for duty in case of disorders in the New Mexico coal fields. The governor had requested that troops be sent.

NEW INDUSTRIAL CONFERENCE

PRESIDENT MAY NAME FEDERAL COMMISSION TO MEDIATE IN COAL AND OTHER STRIKES

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—The president and administration officials are considering calling a new industrial conference as a result of the Railroad Brotherhood proposal that the president name a federal commission to mediate the coal strike and other present and future labor difficulties.

Secretary Lane said today that he would place the proposal of the Brotherhood before a cabinet meeting tomorrow. Lane said he regarded the proposal as an indorsement of the president's offer to submit coal strike demands to a commission which the president promised to appoint.

STATE AND MUNICIPAL CAMPAIGNS

MASSACHUSETTS ELECTIONS CONSIDERED MOST IMPORTANT BY POLITICIANS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—Four states and many cities are holding elections tomorrow. Politicians consider these important as "dress rehearsals" for next year's presidential campaign. They are also watching the strength of the labor vote.

Massachusetts, New Jersey, Kentucky and Maryland are electing governors. The campaign in Massachusetts is considered of chief importance. Governor Coolidge is running on a "law and order" platform based on his suppression of the Boston police strike. He is opposed by Richard Long, a democrat who is a shoe manufacturer. Long has the support of Boston labor.

In New Jersey prohibition is the big issue. Edwards, a democrat, is in favor of a liberal wet program while Bugbee, republican, has the dry support. The campaigns in Kentucky and Maryland are less spirited.

MATTISON B. JONES TELLS WHAT HE DID AND WHAT HE AND MRS. JONES SAW THERE

In spite of the fact that professional business took him to Washington where he spent four days arguing a case before the Federal Trade Commission, Mattison B. Jones reports a trip out of which he extracted a great deal of pleasure. No small part of it was due to the courtesies extended to him and Mrs. Jones by Senator Phelan, of California, who not only gave them cards to the Senate but placed his auto and chauffeur at the disposal of Mrs. Jones and her mother to drive about Washington and its environs. They were also entertained at dinner with other friends at the Senator's political home in Washington, which is said to have cost $145,000.

To Congressman Randall they were indebted for cards admitting them to the gallery of the House and the Randalls also took them for a drive around Washington. Other California representatives called upon them at their hotel and they were not permitted to feel that they were strangers in a strange land. Mrs. Jones and her mother were able to enjoy the privileges of the House and Senate, while her husband was occupied with the Trade Commission.

Mrs. Jones had never seen Washington's tomb at Mount Vernon and Mr. Jones revisited it with her, again finding it a most impressive spot as was also Continental Congress Hall in Philadelphia where Washington's farewell address was delivered. They made it a special pilgrimage when in Philadelphia and were interested in the many objects of patriotic memory they saw there. They saw New York, of course, which Mr. Jones pronounces the most wonderful city he has ever seen not

MR. AND MRS. POTTER ENTERTAIN

Mr. and Mrs. Pierre V. Potter of 436 West Broadway entertained a group of friends in a Hallowe'en setting of pumpkin jack-o-lanterns, yellow and black decorations. Guests came in a variety of costumes and not the least part of the evening's entertainment was the guessing contest to determine their identity. To Mrs. Vinton was awarded the prize in this "Who Is Who?" contest. The evening was chiefly devoted to Five Hundred, Mrs. John Andree winning high score and Mrs. C. M. Van Dyke next highest. Refreshments were served at the close of play. Those present were: Messrs. and Mesdames Frank Benison, C. M. Van Dyke, John Andree, I. D. Vinton, Henry Wittmeyer, Blake Franklin, R. E. Frey and Herbert Whitaker.

FAMILY REUNION ENDS

The reunion of the Allen family, which has been in progress for several weeks and which has centered in the home of Dr. and Mrs. R. V. Hogue, of this city, ended today, Monday morning, when Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Allen left for Denver and Mr. and Mrs. William Allen and children departed for Prescott, Ariz. As a last excursion the entire party drove to San Diego the last of the week to the Coronado Hotel, stopping at La Jolla and returning Sunday evening when a delicious supper was served the crowd at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Linkogel. It has been a very happy celebration and all who participated will look forward to its repetition next year.

ELKS' HALLOWE'EN

GIFTS BESTOWED UPON CAPTAIN WATTLES IN APPRECIATION OF SERVICES

The Hallowe'en party at the Elks' Club Saturday evening proved a very pleasant affair. The Hallowe'en motif, of course, dominated decorations and refreshments, there was fine music, and a little special celebration for the members of the White Star Patrol, who were guests of honor. A fancy drill was put on by them and at its close Captain Wattles was presented with a few gifts in appreciation of his five years of efficient service as leader, receiving a smoking set, a signal whistle and a fine warm sweater which will doubtless contribute to his comfort when he is out at night putting the members through their paces. At to-night's meeting, which is expected to be a large one, fifteen new members are to be initiated, the work being done by officials of the Pasadena Lodge who will be the special guests of the evening.

THE BUSY EAST

MRS. CHAS. SHATTUCK IMPRESSED BY MAGNITUDE OF MANUFACTURING AND BUILDING

Mrs. Charles Shattuck, who returned from the east Friday night heaved a sigh of satisfaction when she reached her home and though she "had a beautiful time" declared she had not been tempted to remain there. "The fall was lovely" and the woodlands the train ran through were a riot of colors like great bouquets, she said, but cold rains had begun as a forerunner of winter and she was glad to turn her face westward particularly with a strike of the Railway Brotherhood looming as a possibility of the future.

She found things in Michigan much as she expected to see them. Everywhere she went, in Plymouth, Pontiac, Lansing and Detroit building was going on as fast as houses could be put up. Investment companies were being formed to finance them in order to make places for the working people to live. The negroes, she said, were flocking in from the South to take positions in the manufacturing plants.

"The manufacturing is amazing," she declared, "and one cannot but wonder where all the money comes from. Henry Ford is still buying up flour mills and other plants to be converted into factories for making autos, tractors and trucks. He says he is going to employ the farm labor in the winter and send it back to the farms in summer."

She returned via the Union Pacific and Salt Lake routes through quite varied scenery and in Colorado where she spent part of last week the mercury went to ten above zero. They ran into snow and it was very cold until a short time before they struck the California boundary. The trains were crowded with people coming to California to spend the winter.

SEATTLE VISITORS

MR. AND MRS. RENFRO ARE CHARMED WITH GLENDALE AND COMING HERE TO LIVE

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Renfro of Seattle were visitors in Glendale Saturday. They came south recently to visit a sister of Mrs. Renfro, Mrs. Dunham, of Los Angeles, and to see how they liked the appearance of the country with a view to locating in this part of the state. With this thought in mind they have toured all the suburbs of the Angel City and have come three times to Glendale, each time more favorably impressed than the time before. They now declare it is the most attractive suburb out of Los Angeles and that they are going home to pack up and return in the course of a few weeks with their four children. For these they are looking for a clean, healthy environment with plenty of room and good schools, and they think Glendale will fill the bill. Mr. Renfro is a newspaper illustrator and cartoonist. His speech betrays his southern origin—Alabama he says, but he is familiar with the frozen north as well and was in Alaska when the gold rush was on making pictures for the Yukon Sun. Mr and Mrs. Renfro are friends of the V. M. Hollisters.

RETURN OF FRANK KIEFER

Frank Kiefer, brother of Emil Kiefer, arrived Sunday after having received his discharge from the navy. The brothers were practically the first young men in Glendale to volunteer for war service and left at the same time for the Mare Island Navy yards. From there they were sent to a training camp at San Diego and then sent across the continent to Philadelphia where they were given brief training on the "Bushnell" and then transferred to the battleship "Kentucky." From that time forward they were together in the service and expected to be discharged at the same time, but when the time arrived Frank was in the hospital to undergo a slight operation and the surgeons were unable to release him until three weeks later. He is now in perfect health and physical condition and has returned to stay and make his home with his brother, who has recently purchased an interest in the Pulliam Undertaking Company. Frank expects to take a position with the city either in the police or the fire department.

Redondo Beach has let the contract for repairing the pleasure pier damaged in last winter's storms, now that it is time for this winter's storms to begin.

MORE RELIGION IS THE NEED OF THE HOUR

Father J. S. O'Neill calls attention to the following article published in the Beloit, Wisconsin Daily News and reprinted in "Our Sunday Visitor." He thinks it sounds a note of warning to people of all creeds.

"The need of the hour is not more legislation. The need of the hour is more religion. More religion is needed everywhere, from the halls of Congress in Washington, to the factories, mines, fields and forests. It is one thing to talk about plans and policies, but a plan and policy without a religious motive is like a watch without a spring, or a body without the breath of life. The trouble today is that we are trying to hatch chickens from sterile eggs. We may have the finest incubator in the world and operate it acording to the most approved regulations; moreover, the eggs may appear perfect specimens but unless they have the germ of life in them, all of our efforts are of no avail.

"Consider the proposed railroad legislation. The railroads bear a closer relation to the prosperity of the nation than any other material thing. The railroads greatly need today more money for maintenance, extensions and general development. Is Congress doing anything constructive to help the railroads? No! Nobody is discussing doing anything for the railroads. The fight is over who shall have the railroads which are already constructed.

"It is a good thing for the country that we have both parties, for if either one had its own way to the fullest extent, the nation would go to smash. It is more religion that Congress needs.

"Take the Labor situation. The solving of the Labor situation is wholly a question of religion. The wage worker will never be satisfied with higher wages and shorter hours any more than you and I are satisfied with more profits and a bigger house. Things never did satisfy anyone and never will. Satisfaction and contentment are matters of religion. Communities and industries, where right motives are paramount, have no serious labor problems.

"When both employer and wage earner honestly believe that we are here in this world to serve others, the Labor problem will be solved, but not until then. We employers should learn to give up, and labor should wake up. However, neither of us will do it except as we are actuated by religious motives. Both groups are largely actuated by selfish motives at the present time. During the scramble over a division of what is already produced, we overlook the great importance of increasing production, thereby cutting down the tree to get the cherries.

"Meanwhile, what is happening to our churches? They are going to seed. They are already deserted by the working classes, and are being deserted by the children of the employing classes. Great capital investments in land and buildings are being utilized only for a few hours a week. The ministers are being paid starvation wages, and the whole church industry lacks pep and imagination. And yet, the church is the only organization in existence for generating right motives in man. Schools develop intellect, theatres and novels foster passion, but the church is the sole organization which develops those good motives of love, sympathy, hope and inspiration, upon which the industrial salvation of the world depends.

"All men are human, whether United States Senators or humble workmen. We are actuated not by our intellects, but by our emotions. We are guided by love or by hate, by sympathy or by jealousy, by hope or by fear. The political and labor agitators, the partisan newspapers, the every-day movie, and the other agencies which develop hate, jealousy and fear, are running rampant today. The one great organization which has the machinery and opportunity to develop the constructive motives of love, sympathy and hope, is asleep. Yet there still exists energy enough in the churches to enable them to fight one another. Preachers, like politicians, are not so much interested in increasing the output of religion as they are in the division of the religion already produced."

We read a big bunch of newspapers every week, and in most of them lately we have read columns of praise of the high-minded statesmanship of Theodore Roosevelt while he was alive, and have wondered how these comments would look if clipped and printed side by side with what some of these same papers said of President Roosevelt when he was in the thick of his fight for better government in the United States, and when he really wanted and needed their help.

for the marvels it contains but for its magnitude and extent.

They went to Buffalo and Niagara Falls, to Cincinnati where Mrs. Smith left them and then to Kentucky where they had a different sort of a good time visiting their friends and relatives, the only sad feature being the absence of Mr. Jones' brother who had passed away about two months before. Rains had made the country very beautiful and the atmosphere cool and fresh. They returned via St. Louis, Kansas City, Denver and Salt Lake and had no mishap in the entire journey. They are delighted. Mr. Jones says, to get home and find their daughter well and everything so pleasant barring the burglary which they didn't like.

Concerning the case on which he was engaged, Mr. Jones explained that he represented twenty-eight defendants in an action entitled "The Federal Trade Commission vs. The Western Sugar Refining Company, et al." Included in the defendants was another sugar refining company, seven wholesale grocers of Los Angeles and nineteen brokers. It grew out of complaints made by the Los Angeles Grocery Company charging these twenty-eight defendants with conspiracy and threats against its business alleging they had told manufacturers if they sold to the Los Angeles Grocery Company that they —the seven wholesale grocers, would not buy from them. The defendants denied the charge entirely and the charge of boycott and conspiracy. Testimony in the case was taken here for three weeks last August before the examiner of the Federal Trade Commission and the record of testimony consisting of about 1500 pages, was sent to Washington where the case was argued.

The Federal Trade Commission was brought into existence by Act of Congress in September, 1914, and is therefore only five years old. No case of its kind of any such magnitude has ever before come before the commission, Mr. Jones says, and for that reason it is being watched and the decision awaited throughout the country with the greatest interest because it will esablish a precedent.

Of the hearing before the Trade Commission Mr. Jones says:

"It was one of the pleasantest in which I have ever participated. The commissioners are similar to judges. They listened for four days with the utmost earnestness and their methods of questioning showed they were deeply interested in getting at the facts with the full intention of doing absolute justice between the parties. I cannot think for a moment that the findings are going to be against us. I think they will exonerate the defendants of any wrong or attempted wrong. But if the commission should find against us we have the right to appeal to the Circuit Court of Appeals which in this case will be the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals which sits in San Francisco, and covers the states west of the Rocky Mountains. If that court should find against us we would have the right to appeal to the Supreme Court at Washington. If the Commission's ruling is adverse the case will undoubtedly be carried up as it involves the very essence of the life of these wholesale groceries. If the commission finds in our favor the proceeding will undoubtedly stop."

a giant German ship which was taken from the Germans and used as a transport in bringing our soldiers home. Richard tells us she was 740 feet long, carried a crew of 500, and had bunks for 3000 troops. She was equipped with a fine swimming tank, the water being changed daily, a complete Movie outfit, with four daily shows and frequent change of bills. It was said that this ship had never been previously out of German waters. She had been constructed and equipped for transporting German troops to England's shores in the world war which was to come. Richard is delighted to find himself again upon American soil, especially that spot which had become so endeared to him as his home. He will now complete his education before making any plans for the future.

Charlie Chaplin's press agent reported in some of the eastern papers that Charlie owned the famous Bernheimer mansion on top of the fancy hill just back of Hollywood, the story showing pictures of the well-known residence. The Hollywood Citizen got hold of the fake publicity story and exposed it, but a little thing like that would never bother a movie press agent.

The Pasadena Star-News calls attention to the fact that one thing that makes Heaven so attractive is that there is no high cost of living problem there. Well, to offset that, there is no fuel problem down below either.

Some one has figured out that the rats in Long Beach cost the city $120,000 annually. They'll soon have to float a bond issue down there to support their rats, if they don't stop that fellow from figuring.

The Purity of Our Water Supply Must Be Insured

The Verdugo canyon is one of the best sources of Water Supply to be found in Southern California. For thirty-five years this stream has been the chief source of domestic supply for this valley and there has been no question as to the purity of the water.

But the natural beauty of the canyon is attracting settlers and as the number of homes in the canyon increases the necessity of protecting the purity of the city's water supply becomes more apparent.

The upper portion of the Verdugo Canyon forms an underground reservoir into which flow the subterranean streams from the watershed. These streams pass underground until they reach a point about the middle of the canyon. Here the water rises, forming little streams on the surface which flow toward the lower end of the canyon uniting in one large stream which flows above ground through Verdugo Park before it reaches the intake of the Water System.

While this stream is flowing under forty to seventy feet of gravel it is safe from contamination, but where it flows on or near the surface it is liable to come in contact with impurities. To prevent this it is necessary that the flow be intercepted before it rises to the surface.

The development works proposed to be installed at the north end of Tract 250 are for this purpose. The plans proposed will also do away with the collection of "pipe moss" which while not harmful is very objectionable and has caused the Department considerable trouble.

Engineers have estimated the cost of these development works at $32,000. Glendale cannot afford to have her water supply contaminated for many times that amount.

WHAT MAKES PEOPLE TIRED?

The Hon. Elihu Root said to the judicial section of the American Bar Association:

"The real reason for criticism of the courts is not that the people have lost faith in the courts and confidence in our judges, but that they have come to where they want less and less to be bound by law."

We do not believe, nor do we think Mr. Root believes, that the people are weary of the laws that have been respected throughout the centuries.

What makes the people tired is the endless, footless mass of statutes, most of them never needed, born only to be forgotten or ignored.

The people are made tired by the dull procession of commissions which waste paper and ink and the reports of which will filll dusty shelves, but no bellies or pockets.

The people are tired by, and of, statesmen who invent substitutes for human nature, for the ten commandments, for the common law, and for the law of supply and demand.

The principal offenses of today are against the law of common sense. They give the people an indescribable weariness.—Monrovia News.

Redondo Beach city dads have figured out how far you can smell a goat. They changed the city ordinance last week regulating the distance which a goat may be tethered from an objecting neighbor, from forty feet to twenty-five feet. The goats down at Redondo must be weaker on the scent than those we have met elsewhere.

DEATH OF FORMER RESIDENT

After a lingering illness Katie L. Evans passed quietly away on Sunday evening, November 2, 1919, at the Arbor Rest Sanitarium where she has been cared for the past ten months.

Katie L. Morton was born in Aurora, New York, November 6, 1856. After several years spent in teaching she was married in 1879 to Fred S. Evans, of Gainesville, New York, who died December 19, 1917. One son was born to them, Norman F. Evans, who resides in Los Angeles.

Since early in life Mrs. Evans was a most devoted Christian, active in whatever good work lay at hand. During her residence in Glendale she was most active in church work and especially so in the cause of temperance.

Her whole life was characterized by loyalty—loyalty to her family, her friends and to the principles which she believed to be right.

After knowing that her time on earth was short, she seemed anxious to go and often spoke of meeting the loved ones on "the other shore."

She leaves to mourn her loss, her son, Norman F. Evans, her only sister, Mrs. Ellen E. Codd, with whom she had resided the past two years, one brother, C. F. Morton, also two nephews, G. H. Morton of Glendale and F. H. Damon of East Aurora, N. Y., and two nieces, Mrs. W. A. Burns and Mary E. Austin, besides other relatives and innumerable friends.

Funeral services will be held on Wednesday, November 5th, at two o'clock, at the Little Church of the Flowers.

AMERICANISM

(By Robert Quillen

Of late months we have heard a great deal concerning a vague doctrine or faith called "Americanism." Politicians use it to defend their attitudes or confound the opposition, but make no effort to interpret it for us. The layman, already surfeited with 'isms, hesitates to adopt a new one that yet lacks definition.

American is not a new thing. It is not what we hope to become. It is what we have been and are.

Essentially it is opposition to the cootie.

It is belief in a righteous God; faith in the inborn decency of mankind; love for cleanness; hatred of filth; and the conviction, based on newly-acquired knowledge of geography and the people that inhabit the earth, that America is and has always been the most desirable if not the only desirable place for a regular man to live.

The young men who shall control the affairs of America for decades to come saw Europe a-swarm with vermin, content in filth, ignorant of the uplifting and wholesome things that have become a commonplace of American life.

And because these things in a Europe supposed to have been the home of culture and romance disgusted them beyond measure, they learned to love America as they had never loved it before.

They compared the squalor of a Europe that has never been free with the splendid culture and advancement of an America that has always been free, and learned a new and deeper appreciation of freedom.

Americanism is neither more nor less than an appreciation of America. That, however, including the determination to preserve and defend America for those who have sense enough to appreciate all that is opposite to cooties and the filth they represent.

The Norwalk Call tells of a section hand being let out by the railroad there because they don't keep men in that work after they are 45 years old. And down at El Centro a man 92 years old has just completed a strenuous season working in the cotton fields, and feels fit and hearty. One theory or the other is surely wrong, Evalina.

It costs money to die in Highland Park. The Messenger charges five cents a line for obituaries. The fellows up there who never did much in their lives have an advantage.

We thank the South Pasadena Record for mentioning the recent rain in Southern California without using the word "Southland." We had almost despaired of ever finding the two words used separately in Southern California newspapers. It may have been only because his headletter type wouldn't fit the longer word, but even at that it was refreshing to read in the Record of the rain being general in the South, instead of the Southland. The poor old word "Southland" has been over-worked almost as much in Southern California newspapers during the rainy season as has the equally frazzled word "rushed" when injured people have been taken to the hospitals. Why not "rush" "Southland" to the lexical hospital for a while and give them both a much needed rest?

The only redeeming feature about near-beer is that there is no law to compel one to drink it.

CENSUS INTERPRETATION OF THE WORD "FARM"

Washington, Nov. 3.

What is a farm?

Seems a foolish question to ask, doesn't it? Almost anyone can tell off-hand just what a farm is and knows one when he see it.

But do you happen to know the interpretation Uucle Sam places on the word "farm" for censeus purposes? No? Then read how his Bureau of the Census defies the word:

"A farm for census purposes is all the land which is directly farmed by one person conducting agricultural operations, either by his own labor or with the assistance of members of his household or hired employees."

In further explanation of this definition the Census Bureau points out that the term "agricultural operations" is used as a general term referring to the work of growing crops, producing other agricultural products and raising domestic animals, poultry or bees.

From this definition it will be seen that a farm may consist of a single tract of land or of a number of separate and distinct tracts. And these several tracts may be held under different tenures as, for instance, when one tract is owned by the farmer and another is rented by him. Thus if a manwhoowns 100 acres rents an additional ten acres from some one else and operates both the 100 acres and the ten acres, then his "farm" includes both tracts of land comprising 110 acres.

By the same token when a landowner has one or more tenants, renters, croppers or managers, each different tract of land operated by any such tenant, renter, cropper or manager is considered a separate and distinct farm by the Census Bureau. Or, to give an example, if a man owning 120 acres of land rents 40 acres to a tenant and farms the remaining 80 acrees himself, his farm is the 80 acres which he operates, not the 120 acres which he owns, while the 40 acre tract which he rents to a tenant comprises a separate farm to be reported in the name of the tenant.

Another question to be determined is how important does an agricultural enterprise have to be in order to secure recognition in the census as a farm? A small vegetable garden or a chicken yard accommodating a few busy hens will not be allowed to qualify as a "farm" in the census no matter with what pardonable pride and satisfaction the proprietor may view his agricultural enterprise.

But ii the garden or chicken yard expands until it covers not less than three acres of ground, or until it requires for its care the continuous services of at least one person, or yields products annually to the value of $250 or more, it comes within the census definition of a farm will be recognizedassuch and counted.

The agricultural schedule contains many questions regarding farm values, expenses and live stock as well as the acreage and quantity of crops raised in the year 1919. Census Bureau officials are urging farmers everywhere to prepare for the census enumerator by looking over their books and records so that accurate answers mey be furnished to questions.

Throwing mud ceased and throwing dirt began last week, in the campaign to get a flood control channel through Long Beach to prevent the harbor from filling with silt every winter. The Long Beach Telegram mentioned the historical ground-breaking program, when the new channel work was started. A gilded shovel was used to fill a glass jar with the first dirt dug, and the shovel and the jar of dirt will be kept as mementoes to be exhibited to future generations and excite them to wonder why their great grand-dads waited so long before getting together on such a sensible and necessary scheme to improve the harbor.

TRANSFERRING OF YOUTH

(By United Press)

SAN QUENTIN, Nov. 3.—When Antone Lapara, a handsome Italian of 29, is hanged here on December 19th, the youth that has put the spring in his step and the resonance in his voice will be transferred in a measure from his dead body to the living body of one of the old men prisoners.

The means employed will be the surgeon's knife and the surgeon will transplant the reproductive interstitial glands of Lapara to the old man's body.

This will be the eleventh operation of this nature performed at the prison by Dr. L. L. Stanley, the prison physician, and Dr. G. Stanley Kelkar, his assistant. All of the ten previous operations have given a measure of youth to the old men who received the glands. They have created something of a sensation in the medical world.

The old man will be chosen from a score of volunteers who have faith in the operation and desire to tap the fountain of youth.

The doctors believe that with the glands goes nothing of the nature that caused Lapara to commit his crime against society. Lapara is sentenced for a blackhand murder. He called an Italian to the door of his home in San Francisco and shot him to death with a shotgun. Lapara is a big man of great vitality, and the doctors are waiting with considerable interest to see what measure of this vitality they can transfer to the feeble body of the prisoner to be chosen.

Much of the faith in the operation results from the changed appearance of a prisoner to be known as B—, who daily is seen in the prison yard.

B— is 73 years old. Before the operation he was old in every respect. His face bore deep wrinkles, and his step was feeble. He was old also in spirit. His face bore a hopeless look according to other prisoners, and his figure was stooped. Now he carries himself with an assurance and professes to have renewed youth. Many of his wrinkles have disappeared. He has lost the timid attitude of an old man and speaks with a deep and assured voice.

Here is published for the first time excerpts taken from the official record of Dr. Stanley who implanted reproductive interstitial glands in B—'s body:

"B— is 73 years old. He was never married. On pleading guilty to a crime indicating perversion, he was sentenced to life imprisonment.

"B— was received at San Quentin in October, 1917, at which time his weight was 126 pounds, age 70. He had been a bank clerk and rancher.

"At this time physical examination showed him to be bald, pale, hearing impaired, most of his teeth missing, poorly nourished and poorly developed. Otherwise in fair condition.

"He readily consented to the transplantation, which was performed June 20, 1919.

"The donor in this case was a half-breed Indian boy, age 19 years, who was hanged for the murder of a saloon man.

"Within half an hour after the hanging, the operation was performed.

"Local anaethesia of novocain one-fourth per cent was used. There was no pain. (Stanley used the spinal anaethesia).

"The following notes were made at ward visits:

"June 21—Wound slightly sore. No marked change since operation.

"June 22—Feels better this morning.

June 23—Feels fine. Wound clean. (Here the record describes changes in the patient's physical condition).

"June 24—Notes similar to June 23. Regular diet.

"June 25—The nurse in his chart notes as follows:

'Patient since operation has improved mentally and physically. Eyes are brighter, and he is more active mentally and physically than a man many years his junior. * * * Appetite excellent. Nerves are steadier. Anxious to be about doing something of interest. Before operation was naturally reticent, but now is positively emphatic. Summing up the whole demeanor of the patient six days after operation, he has more pep and jazz and increased mental energy than most men many years younger. At ward rounds patient remarked that he felt like a fighting cock. Said he wanted to get out to hit someone.' "

The patient, according to the record, was able to be up on July 10th.

Incorporated in the record is a letter from B— in which he states he is quite sure he has received a new lease on life and that it will be of permanent value.

B— today told the United Press, over four months following the operation, that he felt like a young man. There was nothing retiring about him.

"I hope to be paroled from prison," he said, "and if I am, I shall marry if I find the right woman."
